Also an actress and playwright, Starr has been awarded two First Americans in the Arts Awards, the Maverick Award from the Los Angeles Women's Theater Project, and a Wordcraft Circle of Native Writers Award.

To All Members of the Western Literature Association, past and present:

THANK YOU!

For 50 years you have shaped the WLA into the extraordinarily strong, vital, and collegial organization that it is. You have advanced scholarship, crafted important connections, and fostered a uniquely giving and receptive environment. On behalf of the WLA, here's to another 50 years.

With gratitude,

Nicolas Witschi, Executive Secretary

We would also like to thank all of the past and future presidents (some of whom are brave enough to tackle the enormous task of organizing a conference more than once). You can see their pictures in our hall of fame at <http://www.westernlit.org/wla-presidents/>.

In addition, we would like to thank all those folks who stepped up during the past 50 years to serve on the Executive Council, especially our Executive Secretaries and Treasurers. Many of them have served in various capacities, and all of them have served on awards committees and have shaped the direction of the WLA.

We are proud to have such active and generous members.

THE WESTERN LITERATURE ASSOCIATION

STATISTICS:

In 50 years, we have had 55 presidents – 34 men and 21 women.

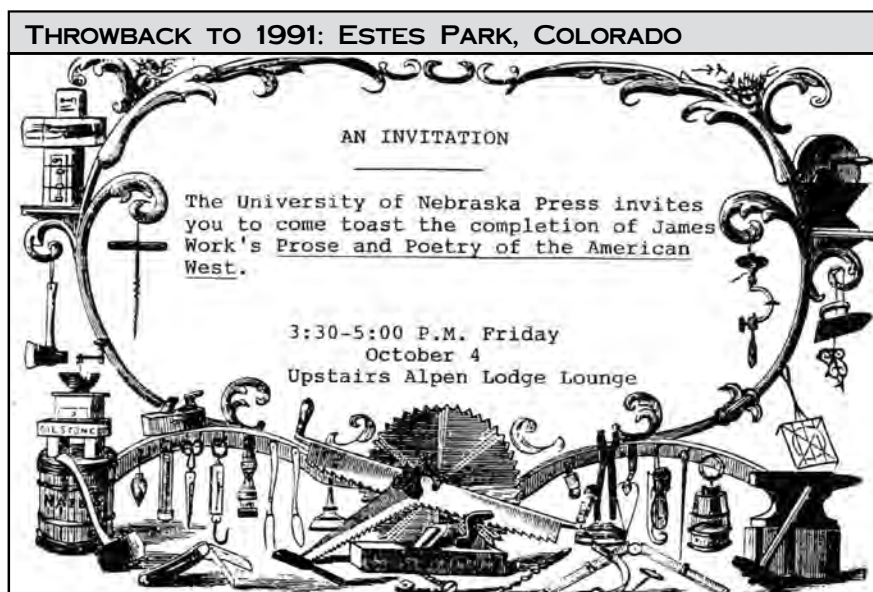

Founded in 1965, the WLA was predictably dominated by male scholars during the early years. The first 12 WLA presidents were men. In 1978, Mary Washington (Utah State University) became the first female president. Many strong women have been leaders in the WLA. During the last 12 years, 10 female and 6 male presidents have served the WLA.

Most recently, we've had several collaborations between men and women co-presiding over our conferences, including this year.

THROWBACK TO 1985: PRESIDENT'S LETTER TO THE EC

9/12/85

To: WLA Executive Council

From: Gerry Haslam

This is my last missive before the gathering. . . .

An aside: A good percentage of our members appear to have novels under way from which they will gladly read in lieu of the papers they've neglected to write ("I've been so busy..."). I'm beginning to understand those Volpina letters.

WESTERN LITERATURE ASSOCIATION

WILDERNESS WAPITI

Each meeting place of our annual WLA conferences evokes its special spirit of WEST—and it lingers in our minds and memories throughout the winter and spring until the next fall and our yearly gathering of the chosen.

This year we'll all surely remember, all hear the echoing cry of the elk, the longing, wilderness calls of the great Wapiti sounding through the canyons and off the hardened heights of Rocky Mountain National Park.

Our personal memories will vary: twelve of the majestic creatures sauntering up the side of a forested mountain; an eagle soaring high and free over Alberta Falls, dismissing the gawking dots on the trail below as insignificant; the sun shimmering across the surface of Bear Lake and diminishing into the dust of the sheer-walled, aspen-covered western shoreline.

Through the meeting rooms, in the dining hall, among the books and special coffees and gift-shops downtown—even in the local and much revered ARCHIVES—wafting through the late afternoon conversations and toasts to us, to our Western doings, reverberating across the smoky, gun-popping auditorium and the tobacco-spewing stories of Colorado mountain men, we hear and remember the cry of the American Wapiti, the hope and promise of the West, our wests still to be realized.

Was it a vision? A waking dream? A phantom echo? The Major? Joe? My Pardner? Or, ...was it James Work calling us to convene?

FROM THE PRESIDENT

All eyes towards Reno, Nevada, where WLA will hold its 27th annual meeting in October 1992. The meeting will convene in plenary session at 8 p.m., Wednesday, October 7. Author Doris Betts, the keynoter will speak on "A Southern Writer's use of Western Materials. If you have not read Betts' novel Heading West, I hope that you will do so before the convention. You will be glad that you did. Following her lecture the Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, University of Nevada-Reno, will hold a reception honoring Betts and welcoming all of you to Reno.

We had toyed with the idea of meeting West of the Mississippi, recognizing the importance of Western myth to all Americans. However, being particularly loath to break with tradition I opted to bring the concept of East to West.

Henry David Thoreau wrote "Eastward I go only by force, but westward I go free. We go westward into the future, with a spirit of enterprise and adventure." Can we think of West meaningfully without thinking of East? (Does Democrat make sense without Republican?) How has the perception of West changed in the East? Has the perception of East changed in the West? And maybe the difference is not so great as we think in the wake of Congressional refusal to make even modest changes in our gun control laws (slaughter in Texas notwithstanding). I must ponder the reality that only one congressman from North Carolina (the one from my district, I hasten to add) voted for the contemplated restrictions. We as a nation seem loath to accept the notion that the frontier indeed is closed.

Obviously there is plenty for us to continue to think of as we ponder differences and similarities between East and West. I'm hoping, too, that some of you will give consideration to the ways non-Anglos might perceive "East" or "West." What, for example, does our literature say about perceptions of the meaning "West" that black Americans hold?

Our conference will not, of course, be

East-West polarities. But I hope that such discussion will be a part of our dialogue.

And the conference will as always, provide plenty of opportunity for fun and fellowship. You may want to save your quarters to try your luck at that Nevadan recreational specialty. There will be other opportunities as well. Interested persons will be invited to take a tour to Donner Lake (we'll lunch before we go there) and see some of the glories of the Sierras.

To enable you to have as much cash as possible for recreational purposes, I've arranged for American Airlines to serve as the official carrier for the convention. American will offer WLA members 5% off the lowest possible fare or 40% off cash fare. The reduced rate will be effective from October 6 through October 12. Closer to convention time, I will send you instructions how to take advantage of the offer.

Meanwhile keep Reno in your plans in the spirit of enterprise and adventure.

—Joseph M.

Flora

FROM THE (FORMER) PRESIDENT'S DESK...

Trying to pen an official "Thank You!!" to those who made the Estes Park meeting a success, I realized that the list would include everyone from Albertini to Zwinger. Since I can't list all of those names, I'm going to ask for your help. If you enjoyed a panel or paper, or like the accommodations, or the book exhibit, or took pleasure in the "Archives" hospitality, or were entertained by the reader's theatre, please write to the people responsible and tell them. It would take me forever to thank the registration helpers, the panel organizers, the Logan crew, the Canadians, the Dancing Badger, the local merchants, and all the rest. What a wonderful team! Please say "thanks"

Distinguished Achievement Award Winner Robert Laxalt

The late Nevada writer and University of Nevada journalism professor Robert Laxalt (1923–2001) will be presented with a posthumous award, to be accepted by members of his family and friends, including the author's daughter Monique Laxalt, a respected western author in her own right, and Professor David Rio of the University of the Basque Country, who has published a Spanish translation of Sweet Promised Land.

The son of immigrant parents from the Basque Country of southwestern France, Robert Laxalt is the author of seventeen books and dozens of newspaper and magazine articles. Sweet Promised Land (1957) is a non-fiction account of his father's immigrant experience, opening with the memorable line, "My father was a shepherder, and his home was the hills." The book earned Laxalt the reputation as the voice of the Basques in the American West. It inspired the first National Basque Festival, held in Sparks, Nevada, in 1959, spawning many other festivals throughout the American West, celebrating Basque culture and honoring Basque immigrants.

Other works by Laxalt include the Basque family trilogy of novels about three generations of Basque immigrants in Nevada, as well as several books about the Basque country of Europe, two histories of Nevada, and several novels chronicling the "Other Nevada," namely, the vast landscapes and isolated communities of rural Nevada. Laxalt received Spain's prestigious Tambor de Oro award. In 1961, he founded the University of Nevada Press and directed it for more than twenty years.

Distinguished Achievement Award Winner LeAnne Howe

An enrolled citizen of the Choctaw Nation of Oklahoma, LeAnne Howe is the Eidson Distinguished Professor of American Literature at the University of Georgia. A Fulbright Distinguished Scholar to Jordan and United States Artists Ford Fellow, Howe is the recipient of a Lifetime Achievement Award from the Native Writers' Circle of the Americas, an American Book Award, and an Oklahoma Book Award. Through her innovative novels, essays, poetry, and scholarship, Howe unmaps conventional histories of the American West. In their place, she offers restorative stories of Indigenous continuance, creativity, and community. Howe's intergenerational novels Shell Shaker and Miko Kings: An Indian Baseball Story seamlessly fuse fiction, history, and theory. Her influential concept of "tribalography," a model for integrating Native story, history, and memory, has been widely applied by scholars in Native Studies. Howe's most recent book, the mixed-genre memoir Choctalking on Other Realities, models tribalography as a Native theoretical and narrative practice. The Modern Language Association honored this milestone work with its inaugural 2014 Prize for Studies in Native American Literatures, Cultures and Languages. Her ongoing collaborative work with actress Monique Mojica addresses the recovery and renewal of Indigenous forms and epistemologies in the creation of contemporary Native theater and performance.

Fr3G: A Reading by Annick Smith

WASHOE E

Introduced by: Mary Clearman Blew, University of Idaho

Reading from Crossing the Plains with Bruno (forthcoming from Trinity UP, November 2015)

Dogs, like humans, have memories, instincts, fears, and loyalties. But as far as we know, dogs do not get swept up in nostalgia, speculation, or self-analysis. Although they have hopes, they are not driven by regrets. In Crossing the Plains with Bruno, Annick Smith weaves together a memoir of travel and relationship, western history and family history, human love and animal love centering around a two-week road trip across the Great Plains that she and her ninety-five-pound chocolate lab, Bruno, took in the summer of 2003. It is a narrative of linked meditations, often triggered by place, about how the past impinges on the present and how the present can exist seemingly sans past. (tupress.org)

Annick Smith is a writer and filmmaker of Jewish-Hungarian descent whose work focuses on the literature and history of the Northern Rockies. Her books include the memoir Homestead, the Montana anthology The Last Best Place, which she edited with William Kittredge, and Big Bluestem, about Oklahoma's tallgrass prairies. Her articles, essays, and stories have appeared in Audubon, Outside, National Geographic Traveler, the New York Times, and Story and have been widely anthologized.

Born in 1967 in Reno and raised here, Willy Vlautin has published four novels set in the American West: The Motel Life (2006), Northline (2008), Lean on Pete (2010) and The Free (2014). The Motel Life was a New York Times Book Review Editor's Choice, and The Washington Post called it one of the 25 best of 2006. Brothers Alan and Gabriel Polsky adapted it into an award-winning film (2012) starring Emile Hirsch, Dakota Fanning, Stephen Dorff, and Kris Kristofferson. Vlautin currently lives in Portland, Oregon, where he leads the alt.country band Richmond Fontaine, which to date has released nine CDs and frequently tours the US, Europe, and Australia. He writes most of the band's material, which allows his characters, settings, and themes to flow between parallel dimensions of song and novel, sound and text.

The Annual Western Literature Association Awards Banquet and Dance

Venue: The National Automobile Museum, 10 South Lake Street
(a few minutes' walk from Harrah's)

Preceded by a reception, catered by Silver Peak Brewery, featuring a cash bar serving their excellent craft beers, and followed by dancing to the Jeff Leep Orchestra, "The World's Most Dangerous Party Band."

The National Automobile Museum (formerly The Harrah Collection) was selected by AutoWeek Magazine as one of America's Five Greatest Automobile Museums. It features a collection of more than 200 exceptional vehicles, including vintage, classic and special interest automobiles, rare and one-of-a-kind wonders, dynamic race cars, and one of the finest Horseless Carriage collections in the world.

The Jeff Leep Orchestra—a group of seasoned musicians from the fertile musical stomping grounds of Reno-Tahoe, with a repertoire of all the great party songs from the forties through the nineties . . . a fearless but friendly bunch, honoring requests from guests of all ages.

Readers Theater: “Guess Who’s Coming to Donner: A Tasteless Musical Comedy”

SAMMY’S SHOWROOM

Created and directed by: Judy Nolte Temple, University of Arizona

Featuring various and sundry WLA members playing and singing the intrepid and unlucky emigrants.

From the Prologue: “It is said that those who are ignorant about history are doomed to repeat it. On the other hand, those of us who pretend to know about history are sometimes compelled to ridicule it. And so we begin: In the spring of 1846, eager settlers headed west in wagon trains. Among the pioneers were ...”

Lewis Keseberg, Donner Party survivor

Throwback to 1991: Letter of the Readers Theater Director to Her Cast

9/16/91

Hello, again!

This is a form letter (my apologies!) to all of you cast members to let you know that all is in readiness for your performance! The props have been gathered and will be in place for you: gold dust, dagger, guns, liquor bottles/glasses, broom, letter, bloody cuff, etc. ...

I hope that all of you are doing something, however minor, in the costume department. Since we are an evening's entertainment (double-billed with the auction), the more we can do to highlight the performance with accessories, the better.

HAVE YOU READ THE SCRIPT? I have not heard but from one of you, and I find it hard to imagine that you all are completely enthralled with the play and its superior quality. Well, it's surely no worse than the others, is it?

Have a good time with the play and the role you are doing! ... This is going to be a stellar production!! ...

Best wishes,

Phyllis Doughman

Barry Lopez and the Community of Artists
James Perrin Warren

"The book argues how the idea of a community of artists upholds and sustains creative work that explores the spiritual and ethical dimensions of an honorable, attentive relationship to the land that has profound implications for the future of civilization in North America."

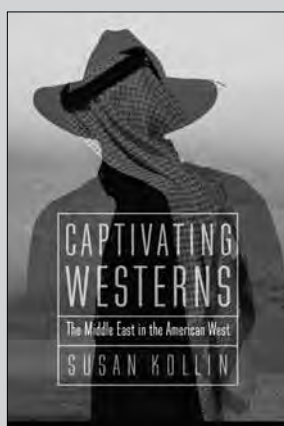

—John A. Tallmadge

"Lamberton is Arizona's 21st Century Thoreau, blessed with the depth, eye, and patience of Joseph Wood Krutch, and the delicious literary flair of the late Charles Bowden."—David Fitzsimmons

Call for Papers: THE PROFANE WEST

The profane: not limited to the blasphemous or the obscene, but rather encompassing that which is underrepresented, undervalued, censored, denied, and/or secretly shared. Unofficial and unsanctioned pleasures and punishments. The necessary complement of the sacred, helping both to define and erode it.

The 51st annual Western Literature Association Conference, hosted by Linda Karell (Montana State University), will take place in the spectacular natural beauty and undeniable tourist development that is Big Sky, Montana. We invite you to think about “the profane West” in ways that challenge entrenched definitions/conceptions/celebrations of the West—including the once subversive.

In addition to proposals on the conference theme and any aspects of literature about the North American West, we especially encourage innovative proposals on the following:

- Indigenous literatures of and about the West
- Feminist and queer approaches to Western literature
- Women’s autobiographical and memoir writing
- Pedagogy and K-12 issues in Western literature
- Animals (and sacred cows) in Western literature
- Montana literature and writers

Proposals for panels and roundtable discussions should include an abstract for each paper or presentation. Deadline: June 1, 2016.
